How To Legally Balance Free Speech & Safe Spaces On Campus

Wednesday, February 7 ~ 3:00-4:00pm (Eastern)

Once the live date has passed, this training will be available on demand.

Overview

The debate between the need for safe spaces versus the right to free expression has reached third rail status. To take a position at all between unfettered speech and immediate appeals to emotional safety is an invitation to cut short your career. It has not always been that way. College campuses have a rich history of speech interactions that were uncomfortable. This webinar will chronicle the history of campus speech protections and examine one campus's efforts to help safe spaces and free expression coexist without the imperative everyone play nice.

Objectives:

- Explore a history of free speech and expression on the American college campus
- Understanding the legal framework and ethical responsibility for universities to support and provide avenues for free speech and expression while providing a safe learning environment
- Study a meta-analysis of current free speech and expression policies currently supported at higher education institutions
- Critique the guidelines on how to manage and encourage free expression and support students who may be impacted by speech content
- Learn best practices for staff related to on campuses interactions with protestors and concerned students

Who Should Attend?

---

- Administration
- Emergency Management Personnel
- Faculty
- Student Union Staff
- University Police
- Student Government Advisors and Leaders
- Any educator interested in learning more about managing free speech & expression policies on college campuses

Speaker(s)

Dr. Michael Preston

"There is currently a very public debate on the role of free speech and expression on the modern college campus and unless universities are intentional in their development and implementation of our free speech policies then that debate will be settled without our input or approval."

Dr. Michael Preston has served as Executive Director of the Florida Consortium of Metropolitan Research Universities since July 2015 where he works with Florida International University, The University of Central Florida, and The University of South Florida on collaborative projects designed to increase retention, improve graduation rates, and ensure graduates are career ready. Previous to taking on this unique role, Dr. Preston served the students of The University of Central Florida since 2011 as the Director of the Office of Student Involvement where he oversaw a comprehensive involvement program including entertainment programming, student organizations, volunteer and service programs, and student government.

David Oglethorpe

"At UCF we acknowledge that most students believe in free speech, until it interferes with their personal belief system. That is why our "Use Your Voice" program is so impactful. It helps students anticipate these emotional challenges and address them before it's too late."

David Oglethorpe serves as Assistant Director for Communication with the Student Union at the University of Central Florida. In his time at UCF, Oglethorpe has held several roles, including overseeing and overhauling free assembly policies on campus, managing Sunshine State public records requests, and advising student government. Prior to his time in higher education, he worked with national media outlets in athletics communications for both The Ohio State University and Jacksonville University. He is currently a doctoral candidate focusing on student attitudes towards free speech.
